

BUILDING THE STRATEGY MANAGEMENT OFFICE

INTEGRATING STRATEGY AND EXECUTION

STRATEGY MANAGEMENT IS CRUCIAL FOR EVERY ORGANIZATION

1

Industries are continuously disrupted by new entrants, new technologies, changing customer demands, increased globalization and the changing role of governments

2

Executives need to continuously adapt their strategy to maintain a 'fit' with the increasingly turbulent environment.

3

For decades, survey after survey reveal that most strategies fail or do not produce the envisioned results.

4

This is the strategy execution problem: the failure to achieve results after a seemingly viable strategy has been developed.

MOST ORGANIZATIONS LACK EFFECTIVE STRATEGY MANAGEMENT

1

Many organizations have a fundamental disconnect between the formulation of their strategy and the execution of that strategy.

2

Organizations often lack an effective strategy management process that allows executives and managers to turn the strategy into operational results.

3

Strategy management involves managing both the development and execution of a strategy.

4

Many organizations separate strategy development and strategy execution and focus on strategy development instead of strategy execution.

WHAT IS A STRATEGY MANAGEMENT OFFICE?

AN INTEGRAL APPROACH TO STRATEGY DESIGN, STRATEGY EXECUTION AND STRATEGY CONTROL

1

Many organizations have a strategic planning unit that is responsible for strategy development but lack a unit that is responsible for strategy execution and monitoring.

2

A strategy management office is an organizational unit that manages both strategy development and execution in an integrated way.

3

The office is responsible for coordinating the whole process of analysis, development, planning, execution and control of the strategy.

4

The office facilitates senior management with strategy analysis and development and middle management with strategy execution and monitoring and control.
